Galactic Gladiators is a game focused around adventuring through procedurally generated science fiction testing grounds. You are a test subject aliens have captured, and they are conducting experiments to see if you can survive. You as the player, must progress and fight through varying unknown rooms in order to win these tests. You will encounter enemies the likes you've never seen before, puzzles that may stump even the smartest among you, loot and treasures from your wildest of dreams, and lastly a boss fight to determine whether you are the apex predator of the other test subjects.
